

Sesquicentennial Celebration Climaxed Saturday With Huge Parade Here; $1,260 In Prizes

Adams county's celebration of its 150th birthday was climaxed Saturday afternoon by an hour-long "Parade of Progress" that was watched by more than 10,000 spectators while rain threatened.

Poured into the procession was the result of hard work and ingenuity on the part of hundreds of countians, with 34 floats representing practically every possible scene of activity in the county's history.

Between the floats were marching units, 14 bands and drum corps, old cars, old bugies, and even a few individual marchers garbed in costume of an earlier period.

Top Prize Winners
Top prize in the floats, a check for $100, went to the entry of the Littlestown Rotary club, which depicted a colonial dance in progress. The wigged and costumed persons on the float danced the minuet while others played the harpsichord and violin as the float passed the judges' stand on Lincoln Square.

Gettysburg's Exchange club won the $75 second prize with a series of four units showing the county's history from the beginning to the present day with "Mr. and Mrs. James Gettys" following in a buggy.

Lincoln Logs' replica of a log house with Abraham Lincoln, impersonated by Bernard Frazer, standing in front won third money of $60. Gettysburg camp No. 112, Sons of Union Veterans, won fourth award of $50 with a scene depicting the action at Cushing's battery at the height of Pickett's charge.

Fair Float Fifth
The South Mountain Community and Fair association received fifth prize, $40, with a double entry. The first float showed all of the types of fruit harvested in the county and the second showed a model farm yard, with a small youngster dressed in overalls and live chickens on the hard yard fence.

An entry of the county's 4-H clubs showing a group with a baby beef and other groups engaged in the various club projects carried out by the clubs during the course of the year won sixth prize—$20.

The $20 seventh award went to the Adams County Senior Extension club's "family portrait" entry which showed a family of the late 1800s, about 15 in all, posing for a photographer.

Vets' Float Wins Prize
Eighth through 12th prizes were all for $10 each. Eighth award went to the Adams County Veterans' float entered by a number of veterans' organizations in the county and showing men in the uniforms worn in all of the wars in which countians have fought, starting with the French and Indian.

The Biglerville Business club took ninth prize with a float which had a real apple tree in its center and four girls to toss off "eatin' apples" to the spectators along the way.

Tenth prize was awarded the Beta Sigma Phi sorority's entry, a quilting bee; eleventh went to the old fashioned kitchen scene entered by an Abbottstown group and 12th prize was awarded to the Boy Scout Troop 73 entry of a float depicting John Hanson Steelman's trading post—the first in the county.

Other Excellent Entries
The judges expressed regret that they did not have more prizes to give for floats, noting that there were many that also deserved prizes. Other floats ranged from the scene showing recruiting in 1776 entered by the Gettysburg VPW, with colonial countians shooting at "King George's nose" drawn on a door at Gettys' Tavern, to a Conestoga Wagon entered by the various Lions clubs of the county.

Judges' prize, a $10 award, went to Alpha Burg, a drum majorette with the Red Lion corps, for her performance in the drum majorette role.

Biglerville Women Win
Novelty awards, $40 and $20, went, respectively, to the Biglerville Ladies' Kitchennette orchestra and the Old Hack, entered by Dr. Roy E. Smith and Harry Bechtel of Hanover. The judges noted that it was the first time they had ever seen anything quite like the 51-piece Biglerville Ladies' "band," which used kitchen equipment as instruments. Quite a number of the entries were considered for the novelty awards, including several family groups with babies in old-fashioned costumes, William Harbaugh, who marched barefoot in a "gay '90s" bathing suit, and Harry Wentz's old Ford, which appeared with a group

Final Sesqui Pageant Tonight

Postponed from Saturday evening because of rain, the fourth and final performance of the Adams County Sesquicentennial pageant, "Freedom's Frontiers," will be presented in the college stadium this evening at 8 o'clock, a half hour earlier than on other evenings.

The band concert scheduled for Saturday also will be presented this evening with Director Edwin S. Longenecker asking band members to report at the field at 7 o'clock. Their half-hour concert will begin at 7:15 p.m. Members of the Blue and Gray, Gettysburg high school and the Biglerville high school bands together with many individual bandmen from the other musical organizations throughout the county will play.

The Sesqui committee announced that it has made special arrangements to include a large display of fireworks for this evening's pageant climax. Special expense was involved in keeping the fireworks display on the program for the postponed performance.

Stadium gates will open at 6 o'clock with box, reserved and general admission seats available. Saturday's rain checks will be honored.

Sesqui Briefs

The rain that threatened Saturday morning became the beautiful weather that permitted the parade to pass, and then began showering when the floats were returning to Springs avenue for the judging.

Barbers had a "field day" harvesting the Brothers of the Brush following the parade Saturday. Most in mock seriousness asked the bearded contestants how long they had been growing the beard, asked how often they shaved, and then threatened to charge 50 cents for each and every shave that had been missed. All finally settled for 50 cents for one shave.

So far as the Sesqui officials know, no one has redeemed any wooden nickels. The First National bank, which had been designated as the repository to cash the wooden nickels, reported that none had been brought back to turn into real nickels and added that the only request it had had was for "more wooden nickels." They're all sold.

Gettysburg had its biggest traffic jam in years on Saturday night. One motorist, caught in the crush, spent 45 minutes attempting to get through the town.

The Gettysburg Lions' marching degeation in the parade Saturday delighted in spotting less ambitious club members along the parade route. They promptly spotted the erring Lions to Tailtwister Jean C. "Buck" Stahl who was in the line of march. Stahl promptly darted to the sidewalk to impose the traditional 10-cent fine.

An estimated 1,500, most from outside Biglerville, viewed the prize-winning window display at Thomas

ADAMS FIREMEN MEETING TODAY AT CASHTOWN

Hundreds of firemen gathered today at Cashtown for the annual convention of the Adams County Firemen's association.

The convention will be climaxed by a parade this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Parade Chairman Harry Small of the Cashtown company said the procession would form on High street in Cashtown, move east on the Lincoln highway to the consolidated school building and then return to the Firemen's hall parking ground where the events of the evening will be held.

This morning the convention opened in the Cashtown firemen's hall with group singing of "America." The Rev. Thomas M. Burns, Jr., chaplain of the county firemen's association, led in prayer and A. C. Keefer gave the address of welcome.

Prizes For Parade
Ernest D. Bushman of the Arendtsville fire company gave the response and the convention then heard reports on various activities of the association. Nomination of officers and other business was carried out this morning.

The firemen adjourned at noon for a dinner and then reconvened at 1:30 for the afternoon session. They expect to complete their work in time for the parade this afternoon. Approximately 30 fire companies are scheduled to take part in the parade with their equipment and marching units.

Prizes to be awarded in the parade this afternoon include: company coming the longest distance, $30; best appearing apparatus, $30; best appearing marching unit, $40; second, $20; best appearing band or drum corps, first, $75; second, $35; most men in line, $45; best appearing ladies' auxiliary, $35.

ENEMY GIRL SLAYS YANK

Masan Front, Korea, Sept. 4 (AP)—A Red Korean tommy-gun girl shot seven American prisoners last night. They were captured in their sleep and their hands were tied behind them.

Two survived the hail of bullets but were left for dead. Also slain was a South Korean assigned to guard the detachment—a Signal Corps unit stationed atop a rain-swept hill only three miles from Masan port on the south coast.

"It is an absolutely verified atrocity of the most vicious sort," said an American investigator. The investigator could not be named because he is an intelligence officer.

The story was pieced together from a bedside interview with the two American survivors. Other details were added by a South Korean interpreter, Chung Kyu Yun, who escaped after wrenching his bonds apart.

One of the survivors, a Michigan soldier who can not be named until relatives are advised that he was shot, said the detachment was asleep when attacked by ten Reds—three of whom were girl guerrillas—about 19 years old.

"They tied our hands, grouped us together and then shot us down," he said. "I could not see which one did it." But the other survivor, a corporal from New York city who was shot in the stomach, whispered that one of the girls shot them.

Weddings

Staub-Brenner

Miss Marry Anne Brenner, daughter of Mrs. Annie Polst Brenner, and the late Thomas Leo Brenner, Hanover, became the bride of John Aloysius Staub, son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Staub, 311 North street, McSherrystown, at a nuptial mass at 8 o'clock Saturday morning in St. Joseph's Catholic church, Hanover. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert C. Gribbin, former assistant pastor of the church, in the presence of relatives and friends of the couple. Miss Margaret Kinder, church organist, played the traditional wedding marches, and accompanied the soloist, Peter K. Smith, cousin of the bridegroom, who sang hymns during the mass. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, William P. Brenner, Hanover.

The matron of honor was Mrs.

Seven Injured In Six Auto Crashes Over Busy Weekend

Gettysburg borough and state police today reported six accidents over the week-end, in which seven persons were injured.

Four were taken to the hospital following an accident on the Ballimore pike at Two Taverns at 5:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, when an automobile operated by Harvey Ernest Miller, 21, of 64 West King street, Littlestown, pulled out of the Hoffman orphanage road in the path of a car driven by Frank R. Pershall, 32, of Baltimore.

The injured were: Ariene Kimes, 18, of Chester, Pa., laceration of right shoulder; Gene Miller, 12, brother of Harvey Miller, laceration of the forehead and brush burns of the right elbow; Mr. Pershall, cerebral concussion, lacerations of the face and scalp and body bruises and lacerations; Helen K. Pershall, 30, laceration of the left forearm, right leg and contused back.

EXCHANGE CLUB FLOAT PRESENTS COUNTY THEME

The Exchange club float, interpreting the "Spirit of Gettysburg," which won second place in the Sesquicentennial parade Saturday afternoon, based its theme on the historical events which took place in Adams county between 1700 and 1950.

N. A. Meigakes, chairman of the float committee of the club, took the episodes shown on the various units of the Exchange club's entry from his new book, "The Spirit of Gettysburg," recently placed on sale at the Bookmart. The scenes were interpreted from the jacket of this volume.

The first unit was titled "From Wilderness to Civilization," and showed William Penn meeting with the Indians beneath the "treaty tree." Luther Lady, Biglerville, portrayed the Indian chief; Madelyn King the Indian queen and Carmen Johannimeier the small Indian boy. Charles I. Raffensperger, assistant county superintendent of schools, was William Penn. At the opposite end of the float the "Spirit of '76" was portrayed by Harold Heiges; his son, Ronald; Eugene Weishaar and Kenneth Markle of Biglerville.

Pickett's Charge

Following this unit James Gettys and his wife rode in a buggy, Mr. and Mrs. Gettys being Mr. and Mrs. Jay Bringham. The driver was Luther Topper and the horses and the

2,000 Witness Judging Of Sesqui Beards On Saturday

Approximately 50 of the finest beards in Adams county appeared on the court house steps Saturday afternoon for the judging of the efforts of the "Brothers of the Brush."

Prizes in the beard Sesquicentennial growing contest went to York Springs Justice of the Peace P. E. Coulson, who won $25 for the most luxuriant beard; Mahlon P. Hartzell, Jr., East Lincoln avenue, who had the blackest and longest; Harry Tawney, West Middle street, who had the reddest; Ed Galloway, East Middle street, whose facial adornment was adjudged the grayest; Bernard Frazer, who won the prize for the beard and most appropriate costume, and Abe Hankey, Gettysburg R. 2, who won the honors for having tried the hardest and failed. Awards of $15 went to each.

At least 2,000 spectators turned out to watch three Gettysburg barbers, Harold Cromwell, James Yingling and Joseph Hoffman, do the judging.

Crowds Jam Street
So large was the audience that it nearly overwhelmed the "Brothers of the Brush" and the judges and practically blocked traffic on Baltimore street.

For a half hour before the scheduled 1 o'clock judging, Baltimore street, on both sides, near the court house, was jammed. The "Brothers" had to force their way through to the court house and gathered in the building before the judging. The appearance on the steps brought much laughter from the crowd. A number added large noses and other features to their faces in addition to the beards. Several had trimmed their beards in such fashion as to present a novel appearance. There were whiskers of almost every color and some faces had red, grey and black whiskers growing side by side.

the others were treated and discharged.

Lt. Clarence P. Wright, 23, stationed at Maxwell Field, Ala., a passenger in an automobile driven by Lt. William B. Harris, 25, also of Maxwell Field, suffered a head injury when the Harris car skidded at the Heidersburg intersection on the Gettysburg-Harrisburg road and struck a guy wire and tree. Also injured was Dorothy Harris, 20, a sister of the driver, who was treated at the Warner hospital for shock and a contusion of the head. Wright was admitted as a patient at the hospital. Carl Gruber, 23, of Middletown, suffered brush burns of the right knee.

State police said Harris had cleared the crest of the grade on Route 15 when he saw cars at either side of the intersection, one of them moving. He applied his brakes. It was raining and his car skidded, striking the pole holding the guy wire to the Metropolitan Edison power line pole, then turned around and struck a tree. Damage to his car was estimated at $1,700.

Crash At Intersection
Automobiles operated by Ray E. Herr, 21, of Fairfield R. 2, and Philip Felsinger, 44, of 47 West Middle street, collided at the intersection of the Fairfield-Emmitsburg road and the Water Works road at 7:30 o'clock Sunday night, state police said. No one was injured.

Herr, police reported, was coming out of the Water Works road and drove around another car which had stopped for the intersection. His car was struck by the Felsinger automobile. Damage to Herr's car was estimated at $50 and to the Felsinger car at $250.

Minor Collisions

Frank Moose, Gettysburg, reported to borough police that his automobile was struck at 5:25 p.m. Saturday while parked on North Stratton street by a hit-run driver. Damage was estimated at $50.

A truck operated by Curtis DeWolf, Baltimore, slid into the car of Woodrow Lehr, Biglerville R. 1, in front of the Jennie Wade house on Baltimore street at 7:10 p.m. Saturday, according to another borough police report. Damage to Lehr's car was estimated at $300, and to the truck at $75.

At 10:50 p.m. Saturday Sam Walker, Buffalo, N. Y., reported to borough police that he struck a parked car on Carlisle street. Police said they had not learned the name of the owner. Damage to the parked car was placed at $100 and to Walker's car at $50.

WED 59 YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Redding, Lancaster, former residents of Gettysburg, observed the 59th anniversary of their wedding day on Friday. Mr. Redding, who formerly lived on West High street here, is 83 years of age. Mrs. Redding was a Gettysburg visitor over the week-end.

Some of the brothers appeared in unusual costumes. There were some in frontiersmen's "buckskin" outfits and beaver hats; one, Charles W. Harbaugh, appeared in a "gay '90s" bathing suit. Justice Coulson wore a long, formal coat and derby, with a number of others also affecting derbies.

Several, including Bernard Frazer, who won the costume award, appeared in a Lincoln costume. Frazer even had a mole on his face at the spot where one appeared on Lincoln's face.

Toughest decision of the judges, they said, was deciding the blackest beard award, with the two top contestants, Hartzell, who got the nod, and John Reinecker, Gettysburg R. D., both having very heavy and very black beards. The judges decided that Hartzell's whiskers were slightly longer than Reinecker's and therefore there was more "black" color showing.

Among the "Brothers of the Brush" who were present for the judging were Charles Baird, Joseph Becker, F. E. Coulson, George Bushman, John D. Lippy, Jr., Charles Rupp, Jr., Donald LaRue, E. P. Redding, Jack Swisher, Lindy Shantz, J. Alan Hell, Harold F. McAnultz, Ed Galloway, Robert Saylor, Jr., Clifford Kennedy, Robert Kennedy, Jr., Ted Gilbert, Fred Codori, Maurice C. Stallsmith, Jesse T. Hoffman, M. P. Hartzell, Jr., Robert Cleveland, Charles Dillman, Jr., A. K. Hinkle, Leo Baker, J. G. Warren, Eugene Miller, C. A. Woodward, Harry Hill Tawney, Samuel Kessel, Henry Schultz, Harold Musser, Howard Starnier, Keith D. Naugle, D. G. Shaffer, Charles W. Harbaugh, Robert Neary, Wilbur Kappes, J. D. Musselman, Richard Knox, Frederick E. Griest, Jr., Max Sherman, Albert Kane, Bernard Frazer, Huber Pitenturi, Harry T. Sease, Fred Hankey and Eldon Oylor.

"Open House" Draws Hundreds On Sunday

Hundreds of persons visited the quarters of the Adams County Historical society in the court house basement Sunday afternoon during an "open house" held as a Sesquicentennial celebration feature. Officers of the society served as hosts and light refreshments were served.

The original museum rooms of the society plus two additional rooms and the central corridor in the basement will be filled with special displays of objects of interest to county historians. All of the rooms have recently been remodeled and re-decorated by the county commissioners who were special guests Sunday.

The display of painting of historic spots in York and Adams counties by Walter D. Trout of York was a feature of the display.

ALL PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS WILL OPEN TUESDAY

More than 1,000 Adams county youngsters, those who attend the parochial schools, will trudge back to their classes Tuesday morning to begin another year of studious effort.

The Catholic youngsters will begin their studies two days earlier than those who go to the public schools, with the approximately 7,000 public school youngsters scheduled to start, with one exception, on Thursday. By RUSSELL BRINES

Tokyo, Sept. 4 (AP)—Two tank-led Red Korean columns cracked Allied lines on the northeast war front today and forged down main highways in a power drive that threatened to outflank strategic Taegu.

The Reds broke through defenses south of Kigye in the Pohang sector. Advance spearheads rolled south 12½ miles for the greatest Red gain in weeks.

Elsewhere on the 120-mile front, Allied forces beat back fresh Communist attacks. An American counterthrust by Marines and doughboys ground out gains in the Reds' Nakdong river bulge west of Yongsong.

Associated Press Correspondent Bem Price reported that the Communist drive in the northeast smashed to the outskirts of Kyongju. This is a main highway center 16 miles southwest of the east coast port of Pohang.

Another Red column rammed nearly five miles into South Korean defenses on a wide southwestern drive toward Yongchon. This town lies on a main road network midway between Kyongju and Taegu.

The breakthrough toward Kyongju represented the deepest penetration the Reds have made in the U. N. beachhead wall since it was erected in early August.

Battles Continue
Heavy fighting raged all along the battlefield, A U. S. Eighth Army communique reported late Monday night.

American marines and Second Division infantrymen ground out new gains west of Yongsan in the second day of an assault to drive a threatening Red bridgehead across the Nakdong river.

A marine major said the Reds were on the run in this sector, where the joint task forces has knocked out 14 Red tanks in two days.

An intelligence officer said three and perhaps four Red Korean divisions—possibly 40,000 troops—had been massed in and near the Nakdong bulge.

On the northwestern front, First Cavalry troopers counterattacked Communist forces strongly defending a 3,000-foot ridge 12 miles north of Taegu. They drove within 100 feet of the summit.

19 ACCIDENTAL DEATHS IN PA.

Philadelphia, Sept. 4 (AP)—Pennsylvania's Labor Day week-end accidental death toll today stood at 19. Thirteen of the victims met death in highway accidents. Two others were killed in a plane crash. A man was killed by a train and three children drowned. Ten of the highway crash victims were killed Saturday—including three in one accident near Wyalusing, Bradford county. State police said the three—Mr. and Mrs. James Gerrie, of Berwyn, Md., and Mrs. Jesse Dowers, Alexandria, Va.—were riding in an automobile which was crushed against a steel bridge by a truck. Those killed in the plane crash near Mrs. Pa. were identified as C. Edward Coe, 37, Mt. Lebanon, Pa., and Clyde R. Bean, Library, Pa., owner of the plane. They apparently lost their way in a heavy overcast shortly before the crash. The drowning victims were listed as Robert Benedetti and Walter Scheller, both 12 and both of Pittsburgh, and two-year-old William Smith of Conshohocken, near Philadelphia. Among yesterday's highway crash victims: Mrs. Virginia Pavey, 26, Jarrettville, Md., killed in an auto accident on the Pennsylvania turnpike near Somerset; Ruth Thomas, 22, Pittsburgh, killed in a two-car head-on collision on Route 19 near Portersville, Pa.; Nicholas Wasser, 75, Lebanon R. D. 3, struck by a car on U. S. Route 422 near Lebanon.

FORD BOOSTS WORKERS' WAGE

Detroit, Sept. 4 (AP)—The Ford Motor company boosted the wages of its 126,000 plant workers today and otherwise made history in a new five-year labor contract. Ford, last of the auto industries "big three" to fall in line in the march to higher pay levels, did it in an unprecedented manner. On this mid-century Labor Day the company junked one contract with the CIO United Auto Workers and agreed to a brand new one. Its major terms: 1. An eight-cent flat hourly cost of living increase to 110,000 production workers. This would be subject to reduction in the event of falling prices. 2. Hitching the wage to the cost of living—in that respect duplicating the famed General Motors precedent. 3. An increase in worker pensions from $100 monthly to $125, including Social Security. 4. A four cents flat annual hourly increase for four years of the contract. 5. A 13-cents-an-hour cost of living increase for 16,000 skilled workers, subject to reduction. Ford and the union reached the agreement after three days and nights of secret negotiations climaxed in a full understanding about 4 a.m. (EST) today. The company did not estimate the contract's cost.

LABOR MARKS ITS HOLIDAY

Washington, Sept. 4 (AP)—Labor celebrated its annual holiday today pledging to work for the defeat of Communist aggression everywhere. That is the prime goal stressed in Labor Day messages by presidents William Green of the AFL and Philip Murray of the CIO. Millions of Americans enjoyed the holiday in the usual ways of fun and relaxation. And there was a usual heavy toll of accidents. President Truman had sounded the keynote for the Labor Day speech-makers in a statement for the occasion several days ago. He said he knew he could count on organized labor's support against communism to win peace—"a peace that will mean even greater rewards not only for our own workers but for workers everywhere." On their mid-century Labor Day, workers of the United States could take stock and count themselves fortunate by comparison with workers elsewhere in the world. This country's workers had the best of it in wages, purchasing power and worldly comforts.

Uses Technicality To Join Marines

Philadelphia, Sept. 3 (AP)—Ernest L. Craven, 22, of Williamsport, Pa., employed a technicality to enlist in the Marine Corps so that he might take the place of a brother killed in Korea. Craven, father of two children, learned of the death of his brother, Chester, 20, in a Korean foxhole, and immediately tried to enlist in the Marines. But the Marines wouldn't take him. He was turned down because of his dependents. So Craven enlisted in the Marine Reserves Thursday and was assigned to extended active duty. Because of a recently-invoked policy, married men with dependents may enlist in the Marine Corps Reserve and be assigned to active duty. Craven is the first married Marine enlistee under the new policy. He will be sent to Paris Island for boot training.

HIGH INTEREST IN KINER RACE TO EQUAL RUTH

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Ralph Kiner's uphill battle to equal Babe Ruth's record in the National League 60-home-run season is keeping the interest of Pittsburgh fans alive.

Despite the Pirates' dismal last place standing, the trunniest are sticking away at a merry million plus pace.

The 70 home games thus far have attracted 1,113,342 cash customers, tops for any club in the National League. Very few Pittsburgh fans make their exits during any game until they are certain Kiner has made his last appearance at the plate.

Fifth Straight Year

Unless a miracle occurs and Kiner is beaten out of the championship, his year will mark the fifth straight time that the Pirate outfielder has won or tied for the home run crown. Appropriately, this is the fifth straight year that Pittsburgh has drawn better than a million fans to its games.

A crowd of 12,736 got its money's worth yesterday when it saw Kiner clout two homes in Pittsburgh's 12-11 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. They were his 41st and 42nd of the season.

Kiner now is one home run behind Ruth's pace of 1927. The Babe used his 127th game to hit his 43rd home run. He made his 44th in his 128th game. A pair of homers by Kiner today would tie him with Ruth's pace.

Set One New Mark

Kiner already has bettered one mark. With 54 homers last year, Ralph now has hit 96 four-baggers in two successive seasons. That beats the National League two-year mark of 95 set by Hack Wilson of the 1928-30 Chicago Cubs.

Kiner shared hitting honors with Rookie Flycatcher Gus Bell. The youngster clouted two triples, a double and single in six times at bat. His double in the last half of the 10th drove in Kiner with the winning run. The latter had been purposely passed by Harry Brecheen to get at Bell.

Rains Cut Action

Action in the majors was cut in half as day-long rains washed out the entire big league schedule in the east.

Taking advantage of the enforced idleness of the league-leading New York Yankees and the third place Boston Red Sox, Detroit and Cleveland won their games to edge a bit nearer the top in the tense American League race.

The runner-up Tigers topped the Chicago White Sox, 4-2, and cut the Yankees' lead to two games. The fourth place Cleveland Indians crushed the St. Louis Browns, 8-1, moving within five games of first place.

In the only big league game, Cincinnati edged out the Chicago Cubs, 7-5, in 11 innings.

"Hen" Bream Speaks On Radio Program

"Although we've lost 18 letters from last year's squad, we still have 21 letters back plus 17 members of the 1949 undefeated freshman eleven," "Hen" Bream, coach of the Gettysburg college football team, stated Saturday evening in an interview over radio station WGET.

When asked what game he considered toughest on the schedule, Coach Bream responded, "The next game is always the toughest so naturally we think that Bucknell is going to be plenty tough. Our boys played the best game of the year against the Bisons in 1949 and won in the final second, 34-33. There is every reason to believe they will be up for this one on September 23 at Lewisburg."

Coach Bream was one of those interviewed on the Saturday Night Party.

Interstate League

(By The Associated Press)

The only problem to be solved on the final day of the Interstate league's season today is the winner of second place. It'll be either the Hagerstown Braves on the Harrisburg Senators.

The Braves, who dropped back after a fast start, hold a one-game lead over the Senators. Today's play calls for Hagerstown to meet the sixth place York White Roses in two games and for Harrisburg to take on Sunbury in a twin bill.

Wilmington's Blue Rocks clinched first place last week and the Trenton Giants assured themselves of the fourth and final spot in the playoffs yesterday. The Giants lost two games, 2-0 and 8-3, to Wilmington, but Allentown failed to close in by also losing a single game to Lancaster, 8-4. Harrisburg whipped Sunbury 7-4.

The team finishing third will have the dubious honor of meeting the Blue Rocks in the first round of the playoffs opening tomorrow night at Wilmington. The second place team will play host to the Giants in the other play-off series.

Today's games (all doubleheaders): Wilmington at Trenton, Hagerstown at York, Sunbury at Harrisburg and Lancaster at Allentown.

Pitching—Bob Feller, Indians—Held the Browns to five hits—as the Indians defeated St. Louis, 8-1.

York Springs Grid Squad Husky; Play At Duncannon September 15

York Springs football squad has taken to the field in preparation for its season opener on September 15 at Duncannon.

Over 30 lads reported last week for training. In this group are 14 lettermen and no less than 17 seniors. Last year's backfield is back again en masse. As yet the players have concentrated on conditioning and fundamentals. Two practice sessions are being held daily—one in the morning, another in the evening.

Coaching chores are being handled by a newcomer fresh from Shippensburg State Teachers' college—John Hubley. Last year Coach Hubley was captain of the Shippensburg college team. Assisting him is Glen "Pete" Kemper who is performing in the same capacity as last year. Coach Kemper has charge of the basketball squad at York Springs.

Returning in the backfield will be Earl Guise and Altee Keefer, halfbacks; Glenn Guise, fullback, and Kenneth Kemper, quarterback. Veteran ends are Wishard, Donald Tanger and Mack Lott. Guards from last year are Terry Taylor and Dale King.

Last year's center, Donald Harbold, a 180-pounder and about the fastest man on the team, may be switched from the center of the line to an end or backfield position. Harold Kennedy is another backfield letterman returning. Another veteran with experience at end and in the backfield Stanley Reinecker. Showing much promise is "Whitey" Smith. Smith is fast and weighs 190 pounds. In addition to these lettermen, many of last year's substitute players will be back. Some sophomores may develop into good grid-iron performers.

Linemen Missing

Three seniors lost through graduation last year. They were John Cristofaro and Ivan Leer, tackles, and Al Griffith, guard. These positions in the center of the line are posing the biggest problems for the coaches. This problem is intensified by the loss also of a substitute center and a guard.

York Springs' team of 1950 will not be unusually fast but it will be made up of husky players. The line is expected to average 175 pounds while the backfield will average around 155 pounds.

Last year the T-formation was used almost exclusively. This year may see the use of both the T-formation and the single wing. This season's strategy will be decided upon more fully as the team shapes up through practice. One possible offensive weapon may be the developing of a passing attack.

Squad Personnel

Making up this year's squad are the following: Backfield lettermen, Harold Kennedy, Glenn Guise, Stanley Reinecker, Earle Guise, Altee Keefer and Kenneth Kemper; line lettermen, Donald Harbold (Capt.), Mack Lott, William Lehman, Charles Wishard, Donald Tanger, Terry Taylor, Donald King and Homer Runkle.

FAIRFIELD BOWS TO NEW OXFORD; VFW '9 FORFEITS

New Oxford and Hanover got credit for victories in the opening of the two semi-final three-game series for the playoff honors in the Adams County Baseball league Saturday.

Hanover won the easy way, receiving a 9-0 forfeit when the Coney VFW team was unable to field a full team.

In the game at New Oxford the home team staged a four-run rally in the last of the ninth inning to cop an 11-10 victory.

Fairfield was apparently on its way to victory when it piled up a 7-0 lead by the top half of the seventh frame. New Oxford rallied for four runs in the last half of the same frame.

Fabe Lawrence poled a home-run in the last of the eighth with two runners aboard to sew up the score at 7-7.

Fairfield came right back with 3 runs in the ninth to make the score 10-7 when D. Weikert crashed a homer with two on base.

Lawrence Is Hero

In the last of the ninth New Oxford loaded the bases with two out. Two bases on balls forced in two runs and then Fabe Lawrence came through again, this time with a single to score the tying and winning runs.

J. Sites, G. Weikert, Shreiner and Sease divided the pitching for Fairfield with Sease being charged with the loss. J. Weikert was the catcher. Mummert, Fritz Staub and F. Lawrence hurried for Hanover with Kuhn catching. Staub was the winner.

Sease poled three safeties for Fairfield with Pitter Staub and F. Lawrence each securing three for New Oxford.

Next Saturday the second game of the series will be played, Hanover meeting the Coney VFW at Ardentville, and New Oxford playing at Fairfield.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

PEOPLE WHO INSPIRE

I never forget the statement of a champion woman tennis player who once told me that she always tried to practice with a player who was better than herself. It inspired her to be better. An example of excellence is a fine thing to keep before us.

I have always loved biographies,
the life stories of those who stood out in the world as useful contributors. Thousands of books, pamphlets, and articles have been written about Abraham Lincoln, extending into nearly a century since he lived and gave of himself to humanity. And these books keep increasing.
I see where a new one of four volumes is soon to be published. No other American has left so pure a fame behind him.

It is well to select our friends from among those who inspire us most.
They help to keep us on our toes,
to look higher, to achieve more, and to be somebody useful. We are happier with this kind of people, because they establish a kinship with us and make us feel the worth of life itself. A magnetic personality, contacted, is like discovering a fine jewel!

As a boy in high school and college, I spent every possible period in the town library, seeking out the books that most inspired me. I early read the books of an English writer, Samuel Smiles—a good name, by the way—and then I read a long series of biographies. In my father's library were many such books, and one by one he would hand one to me, telling me that it was "worth its weight in gold"—and each proved to be just that!

I think that it was the reading of these books that really inspired me to start writing these daily talks that have continued for thirty-two years! But the most notable fact about my writing has been the accumulated thousands of readers who have written their appreciation.
These unseen friends, though many of them I have had the privilege of meeting, have been the real inspiration that has kept them going for long a time.

I like the thought behind this statement: He climbs highest who helps another up!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Locality"

LABOR DAY

They're the source of all our greatness who are keeping Labor Day.

From their skill and strength and knowledge came the splendors
we display.

For that "know how" which we boast of when there's something to be done.

Is the wisdom of the millions who together work as one.

It's our nation that is pausing for a little while today

To picnic with the children and to rump the time away.

On this dedicated Monday unto labor, I can see,

In the parks and on the beaches,
freedom's surest guarantee.

It's our country that is resting and the men who'll keep it great.

They're the strength of every city:
They're the might of every state.

They're the source of every triumph; they're the strong and skillful host

That will conquer every challenge to the things we cherish most.

Formal Floral Planting is Charming Garden Accent

This view would be welcome from any window.

A garden accent, or focal point,
while a necessary factor in good design, need not be impressive, elaborate, or expensive. It should stand out in contrast with its back-ground,
yet be in harmony with its surroundings.

Against a shrubby border, a formal paved area, centered with a bird bath, and edged with a border of annuals, will make a charming focal point, especially as the terrace or porch. It might be large enough for a few garden seats, shaded by a garden umbrella, which would allow the sunshine full access to the flowers.

As in the case with all formal garden arrangements, the simpler the design, the better. The form and color of the flowers will then get full attention. There are many combinations of annual flowers which can be used in such a planting.
White, pink and violet are suggested in the illustration. Cosmos sensation white, in the back row, will grow four to six feet tall, bearing its large pure white single flowers from July until killing frost in the fall. Dwarf white petunias bordering the sides of the paved area will grow in bushes 18 inches high, and they will bloom throughout the summer. Violet alyssum, planted as a ribbon of purple at the base of the white flowers, will remain in bloom long after the other frost.

For another attractive color planting use Cosmos yellow flare for the background, yellow Lilliput zinnias
at the sides, and a yellow dwarf marigold in front. Alyssum Violet Queen would provide a violet background for the yellow flowers and would flower freely until winter's arrival.
By using annuals an all-summer decoration is assured, and each year
the color combination can be changed if desired. For early spring effect tulips and daffodils could be planted, to be replaced by annuals
after they have bloomed.

The ribbon-tailed bird of paradise
is black with a bluish-green cap
and throat and two-foot white tail feathers.

GARDEN JOBS IN SEPTEMBER

Pot-grown strawberry plants may be set out early this month. They will yield a crop early next summer
if planted in properly prepared soil.
Plant daffodils and other members of the narcissus family, scillas, autumn crocuses, snowdrops and grape hyacinths; also plant madonna lilies.

Divide and replant peonies this month so they will become well established before hard frosts. Good stock, free from disease and with at least three to five eyes to each division, is recommended.

September is the best month to plant day lilies (Hemerocallis). While they need no special care, fertilizing
before planting will hasten growth and increase flower production.

Sow radishes in the coldframe and leaf lettuce in the garden.

Apply a liquid plant food to late-sown vegetables. This will hasten their maturity.

Evergreens, both narrow and broad-leaved, may be transplanted
now.

Set out spring and early-summer flowering perennials. The late-blooming kinds should be planted
next spring.

Newly set-out plants should have the soil around them soaked every week or ten days if it does not rain.

Stake chrysanthemums before winds damage them. Since their season is just beginning they will benefit from an application of liquid plant food.

Start lifting house plants from the ground for removal to a more sheltered but still airy location. The change from the garden to the house should not be too sudden.

This is the time to renovate the lawn or build a new one. From now on, every day counts.

Make cuttings of bedding plants for next year's display or for use as house plants during the winter.

WINTER OVERCOATS FOR SOILS

Farmers, orchardists, gardeners
and other persons who "make things grow" cannot afford to leave priceless top soils bare over winter. Even from level land devoid of protective vegetation, especially that left from late harvested row or tilled crops, suffers from erosion due to the bouncing or splashing effects of falling rain and the honey-combing action of alternate freezing and thawing.

There are, in fact, three major aims at stake in plans to protect barren soils over winter—(1) To prevent or lessen soil losses in runoff water from rain and melting snow; (2) To increase the soil's water supply for the next growing season by capturing and holding rain and snow until absorption occurs, and (3) To utilize cover crops to gain these two ends and at the same time have a green manure crop to turn under the next spring
for soil improvement purposes.

As previously mentioned in this column, when a drop of rain strikes unprotected soil, it actually bounces.
In this rebound it carries with it soil particles, as evidenced by soil stains left after rains on newly stirred soils
along a painted or whitewashed fence or beside a painted house.

Most of these soil particles are carried away in run-off water, especially from sloping land. Any cover that shields soil from the direct effects of falling rain drops reduces this bouncing-loose action.

But of course, a cover that prevents or lessens the hammering or chiseling action of falling rain will also check the rate and lower the volume of run-off water. The importance of these two gains can be better understood when it is known that the washing or eroding effects of run-off water are intensified in proportion to the water's flowing rate as well as by the volume that escapes.

Then, too, the cover that prevents rain drops "bouncing" soil particles loose and reduces the date of runoff at the same time it decreases
the volume of run-off water also holds the water longer so it may soak into the soil. This factor is easily overlooked. We may think of winter rain as measured solely in terms of nuisance values. Yet the truth is that water supplies available for growing crops in summer
are largely determined by the volume of rain falling and snow melting the previous winter. Dry-land wheat growers know this momentous economic fact better than farmers in more humid regions.

The small home gardener may furnish a winter overcoat to his bare garden soils by spreading straw, corn stalks or other fine vegetative wastes over the soil before winter.
All these materials may be turned under next spring to augment the soil's organic matter store.

But along with the farmer all gardeners may utilize winter rye for cover roles. Seeded any time from

Sesquicentennial

The "WPA Workers" aboard. The "Brothers of the Brush," some 50 of them who showed up for the beard contest, appeared in the parade at various spots. Originally scheduled to march as a unit, the "Brothers" traveled in all sections of the parade, taking up posts on almost any float that caught their fancy.

Observers of the parade termed it not only the biggest and most beautiful and unusual in years, but also the best humored. There was applause all along the way and a feeling of fellowship that seemed to tie together spectators and participants.

Juvenile Winners

Prizes for the juvenile units included: First, $25, Troop No. 79 Cub Scouts, with 28 in line; second, $20, Gettysburg high school majorettes; third, $15, Gardners-Idaville Boy Scouts, and fourth, $10, Gettysburg Girl Scouts.

The drum and bugle corps awards included: First, $100, York Legion; second, $50, Harold H. Blair American Legion post of Hanover; third, $25, Littlestown VFW, and fourth, $15, Red Lion Legion.

The band prizes went to: Upper Adams high school of Biglerville, $100; Blue and Gray of Gettysburg, $75; Delone Catholic high school, $50; New Oxford high school, $25.

Marching Units Win

Irishtown Fire company's green and white clad marchers won the $75 first place award for being the best appearing marching unit with 25 or more in line. The second award in that division, $50, went to the Gettysburg Fire company, with the judges remarking that they had seldom seen a group that marched as well.

First prize of $75 for the marching unit with the most in line went to Gettysburg Fire company with 47. Second prize of $50 went to the McSherrytown Knights of Columbus, which had 33 men dressed in colonial costume.

Many Vet Groups Helped

Stanton House, chairman of veterans' activities for the Sesqui, explained the manner in which the various veterans' organizations took part in producing the joint float. The Littlestown American Legion post provided the truck and constructed the float. The Littlestown chapter of the Purple Heart provided the costumes and men for the Revolutionary War period, the Bonneauville and McSherrytown Catholic War Veterans, the men of the War of 1812, Conewago post of the VFW, Arendtsville, the men of the Mexican war, the Sons of Union Veterans, the Civil war representatives, the Spanish-American war veterans appeared in their own uniforms to represent that war, the American Legion post provided the World War I representatives and Gettysburg Post No. 15 of the VFW provided the World War II members.

Judges for the parade included Roy G. Fornwalt, Elizabethtown; P. M. Johnson, Caledonia; E. S. Grimmer, Elizabethtown; George T. Miller, Butler, and Mrs. Alice Starner, York. They were luncheon guests of the Sesqui organization Saturday noon at the Hotel Gettysburg.

U. S. COMMERCE DEPARTMENT IS AIDING BUSINESS

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Sept. 3 (AP)—How can businessmen get business with the government?

Which is another way of saying: How can they stay abreast of contracts for which the government wants bids?

Do they have to come to Washington to find out? In many cases, perhaps most, they don't. They can find out in their own towns.

The Department of Commerce has worked out a system to keep them informed and help them make bids on work they can do.

It's done through the department's 42 offices around the country and business organizations in cities and communities, such as local chambers of commerce, boards of trade and so on.

Altogether there are about 2,100 such outlets. The main point in the system is the department's Chicago office and this is the way it works: Say the Army Quartermaster in New York wants to have uniforms made. Through a nationwide teletype hook-up of government agencies, he sends this information to the Chicago office.

This office summarizes the information pouring into it daily, and then sends it out by mail to the 2,100 outlets mentioned above.

Example Cited

They display it for businessmen in their area to read. About 500 summaries of these contracts that need to be filled go to the 2,100 outlets daily. Department of Commerce officials say.

And, since they're displayed in those outlets, businessmen can go to them daily to see what's cooking in the way of government business.

Here's a theoretical example of what happens: Jones in Peoria makes zippers and therefore has metal-working machinery. He reads that the army needs zippers or something else which he thinks his machines can make.

The summary about the zippers, which Jones reads in his chamber of commerce office in Peoria, will say what branch of the government wants the work done. It may be, for illustration, the same army quartermaster in New York.

Widens The Range

If Jones can make what the quartermaster wants, he writes to him, and asks for detailed information. When he receives this, he figures out the cheapest price at which he can do the job.

He sends this, his bid, to the quartermaster. On a certain day all the bids from all the Joneses are opened. The lowest bidder meeting all specifications gets the government contract.

The various departments of the government have purchasing offices scattered around the country. And each of these has a list of businessmen who long ago asked to be considered bidders on contracts that fall within their ability to produce.

So the system worked out by the Department of Commerce simply widens the range of possible bidders and makes it easier for businessmen around the country to be better informed on government contract needs.

Youth meetings will be held regularly each Sunday evening through the fall and winter. The league will sponsor Youth Sunday on September 17 by taking special part in the service at 10:30 a.m.
